The 1942 ECHO

BOYDEN HIGH SCHOOL

Salisbury, North Carolina

ROWAN PUBLIC LIBRARY
SALISBURY, NC

F O R E W O R D

The theme of the 1942 ECHO is Victory and the part each of us play to achieve it. Victory is a military term, denoting a complete triumph—a triumph that can be brought about only when each individual unites in a gigantic effort, casting aside personal interests, prejudices, and selfishness.

Here in Boyden we are concerned with the part we can play in helping to achieve Victory by aiding the war effort.

Therefore, in this yearbook we have depicted the individuals, their activities, their roles in bringing about that ultimate Victory which will be ours.

CLASS POEM

THE CURFEW CALLS

The curfew calls and high school days are gone,
 To leave us wondering at the knowledge gleaned
 From priceless books and scholars who have seen
Our ageless world develop from its dawn.

O, Boyden, only four short years ago,
 When all our days were spent in petty thought,
 We came to you in darkness, and we sought
The seeds of knowledge you alone could sow.

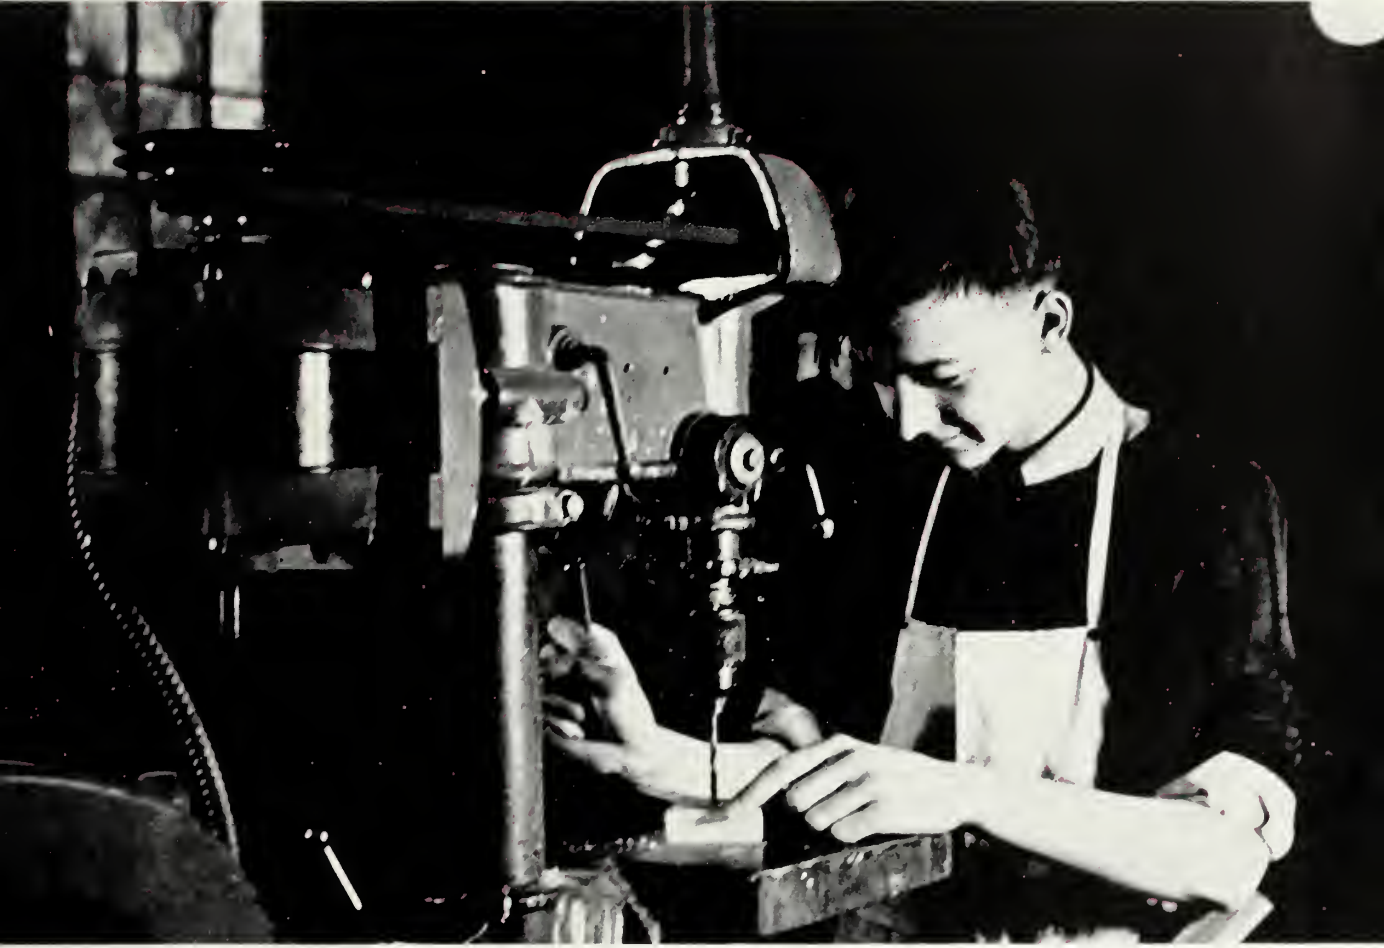

You taught us courage, honor and self-trust;
 In wisdom and in stature how to increase,
 And now our fruitful years with you have ceased;
We look to see life's greater way and just.

Today we face the future. To our sight
 Is not revealed the life that we shall see,
 Yet still no matter what that life may be,
It shall reflect some rays of your vast light.

GERTRUDE WALTON.

CLASS HISTORY

On a certain morning in a certain September in a certain year which we call 1938, a group of somewhat immature youngsters entered the Freshman Class of Boyden High School. Now, these freshmen were not bewildered, scared or even confused. On the contrary, they were quite calm and composed. You see, they were to be the Class of 1942.

They selected as officers: president, "Tinker" McGinnis; vice-president, Araminta Epting; secretary, Helen Graham; and as treasurer, Betty Sutton.

Their scholastic ability was soon recognized throughout the school when out of twenty-six honor roll students, twelve freshmen made the first honor roll of the year.

Miss White's freshman home room, 111, won the P. T. S. A. cup the most number of times during the year, thus proving freshman initiative.

When we returned the next year we elected as our officers of the Sophomore Class: president, "Tinker" McGinnis; vice-president, Robert Saleeby; secretary, Margaret Mahaley; and treasurer, Paul Bernhardt.

Don Rabon and Robert Davis were sophomores tapped for membership in the Hi-Y.

Sara Plexico represented Boyden in the annual American Legion Oratorical Contest. She also served as an alternate on the debating team that year.

Glenn "One-Barrel" Loflin won the State Wrestling Championship in the 167 pound class.

Virginia Murphy represented Salisbury at the annual Girl's State held at Greensboro.

As juniors we again selected "Tinker" McGinnis as our class president for the third consecutive year.

Bob Davis was a delegate at the North Carolina Student Council Congress.

Gertrude Walton interviewed the well-known columnist, Dorothy Thompson.

The National Honor Society tapped quite a few juniors. They were Robert Davis, Margaret Mahaley, Helen Graham, Gertrude Walton, and Betty Ann Ragland.

In the musical field, William Greene, Marian Rodgers and Mary Butner were members of the All-Southern Orchestra, while Don Farthing won highest honors in state and national clarinet contests.

Homer Friday and Bobby Dutton were junior representatives on the debating team.

The Junior Class elected as marshals for Class Day and the Commencement Program, Jean Kirk, "Tinker," McGinnis, Henry Bernhardt, Robert Davis, Jimmie Hunt, Margaret Faye Fisher, Marian Rodgers and Gertrude Walton. "Tinker" McGinnis and Jean Kirk were chief marshals.

At the close of the year in the election for the student body for the next year "Tinker" McGinnis was elected first vice-president, Margaret Mahaley was elected secretary, and Henry Bernhardt was elected treasurer.

When the once indifferent freshmen returned for their last year at Boyden they were destined to write one of the most important pages in Boyden's history. They chose as president of their class Helen Graham; vice-president, Pauline Mowery; secretary, Jean Kirk; and treasurer, Tino Kaneklides.

As their annual staff they chose Betty Ann Ragland for editor-in-chief; managing editor, Henry Bernhardt; business manager, Bobby Dutton; literary editor, Jimmie Hunt; assistant literary editor, Elizabeth Summersett; sports editor; Julian McKenzie; and art editor, Betty Gwynn.

When Class Day Officers were elected Homer Friday became lawyer; Margaret Mahaley, prophet; "Tinker" McGinnis, statistician; and Bobby Dutton, historian.

Boyden produced in 1941 perhaps one of the best fighting and most determined football teams it has ever seen. The Senior Class contributed many key boys to make this team what it was.

Glenn Loflin won the Kennerly Trophy for the most improved player on the football squad.

For the first time in its history Boyden's wrestling team won the state championship. Three state champions: Glenn Loflin, Clyde Barringer, and Royston Rudolph were produced in winning this championship. Clyde is a 1942 graduate.

In selecting the superlatives it was found that Margaret Mahaley and Robert Davis were the most ideal. Gertrude Walton and Bill Hill were selected as most original. For the all-around qualities of Helen Graham and "Tinker" McGinnis they were selected as best all-around, while Brent Woodson and Ross Russell were chosen as wittiest. The cutest of Boyden were found to be Dot Walls and Billy Sigmon. Bronnie Foreman and Julian McKenzie were found to be the most popular. Jean Jernigan's and Tino Kaneklides' intelligence was recognized when they were selected as most intelligent. Don Farshing and Marion Rodgers were found to be the most musical. Jean Kirk and Bobby Dutcn were selected for the most personality. Best dressed were Virginia Marsh and Billy Leonard and most athletic were Clyde Barringer and Margaret Roseman. Duly recognized as best dancers were Betty Mullis and Dean Hughes, and Eddie Sheneman and Margaret Sue Randall were recognized as the best looking.

And now, with the advent of commencement, we write the closing chapter of our book of "High School Days". May all the deeds we do in future years be "superlative deeds", worthy of a place in our book of "After High School Days". My work is finished.

Thus ends the unusual and interesting history of the Class of '42.

BOBBY DUTTON, Historian.

STATISTICS

After receiving the honor of being elected to the high office of statistician of the best Senior Class Boyden High School has ever known, I was confronted with the problem of securing the facts and figures of the Class of 1942.

Acting upon the advice of my advisers, I decided to gather my information by the method most commonly used, the ballot method.

When the statistics had been collected, I began to arrange and assort them, in order to secure the most accurate information. After much hard work meddling in the affairs and secrets of each member of the class, I found the following facts to be outstanding:

The average age of this group is 17, provided the truth were told. Many girls said that they were 16 and had never been kissed, but this couldn't be true if the truth were told by Jimmy Laughridge and Dean Hughes.

On the average, the height is 5 feet 5 inches, and the weight is about 122 pounds. The prize for height goes to "Slim" Worrell, who is 6 feet 4 inches, and the weight award goes to Jimmy Hunt, who tips the scales at a neat 198 pounds (before dinner).

Brown eyes lead with a 58 per cent majority. Blue runs second and "cat eyes" place third.

The average size shoe is an even 7. The sizes worn by Marian Farmer and Jennings Hill are 3 and 12 respectively.

Only 25 per cent have naturally curly hair. The class consists mostly of blondes and brunettes. Black and peroxide blonde hair also exist.

The favorite automobile is the Buick, with the Ford, Chevrolet, and the Dodge fighting it out for second.

The 30 per cent who called themselves "hep-cats" and "rug cutters", named Glenn Miller as their favorite swing band leader.

The favorite actresses are Lana Turner and Gene Tierney. The actors' list is led by Mickey Rooney and Errol Flynn. One vote was cast for Hopalong Cassidy, by Ivy (Blackwelder) McDaniel.

Of the best radio programs, the Lux Radio Theater, Bob Hope, and the Shadow topped the list. Many enjoy the Ivory Soap programs of "John's Other Wife's First Husband's Step Sister".

Mr. D. A. Bunch easily led the list of favorite men teachers, while the favorite woman teacher was hard to decide on. The leaders were: Mrs. Keever, Miss Miller, and Miss Boley. The wizards of finances, Miss "Hedy" Lamarston, and Miss Louise Goforth also were among the leaders.

The best liked subject is study hall.

The leading sports are tennis, swimming, football, and dating.

The two favorite dishes are ice cream and banana pudding.

Fifty-eight per cent of the dignified seniors own and twirl key chains.

As for the question of going to college, 68 per cent said "Yes"; 23 per cent, "No"; and the remaining 9 per cent are undecided as to furthering their knowledge.

Turning a bit to the romantic side, we find that most of the seniors believe in love at first sight. Fifty-nine per cent are in love.

About 70 per cent think they are good looking, but really there are only about 4 per cent of them who would be put in this category. Conceited?

The three cutest girls are Betty Gwynn, Marian Farmer, and Bobby Brown.

The average girl uses about three tubes of lipstick per year. As for the boys, they don't know, because they acquire theirs indirectly.

Some of the favorite sayings are: "My golly", "Well, I'll be", "My cow", "HP", and a long low whistle.

Ninety-four per cent of the class are Democrats.

Ambitions include: aviation mechanics and pilots, newspaper reporters, welders, nursing, secretarial work, medicine and school teaching. The height of Allen Spencer's ambition is to become Tommy Tucker's brother-in-law. Henry Bernhardt hopes to be the proud proprietor of a bowling alley in the heart of K-K-Kannapolis.

Any similarity of the above facts and figures to the illustrious Class of 1942, is purely intentional. In all sincerity, this information is left in hope that it will be of some benefit to those we leave behind us.

With these last words, I, the statistician of this, the Senior Class of 1942, do solemnly affix my signature to this great document.

"TINKER" McGINNIS, Statistician.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

We, the young men and women of the Class of 1942 of Boyden High School, realizing that our stay in this great institution of learning is soon to be terminated, and being of sane mind, sound body, and unparalleled wisdom, and mindful of the fact that we have a degree of intelligence far superior to that of those who have preceded us, do make this, our final will and testament:

FIRST: To our parents, who have done all in their power to make our high school careers a success, we leave our dearest thoughts of thankfulness.

SECOND: For their never-ceasing efforts to give us knowledge and character, we leave to Miss Julia Groves and to the other members of the faculty our most sincere appreciation.

THIRD: To Miss Thompson we leave the honor of being custodian of all the chewing gum under the desks of Boyden.

FOURTH: Those great lovers and hunters of the Senior Class, Allen Spencer and Irving Shafer, leave their abilities to their younger brothers, Bobby and Frank. SPECIAL NOTE: Allen and Irving were planning to come back next year, but due to the fact that their brothers have learned to hunt also, they are graduating to keep from being surpassed by their up-and-coming brothers.

FIFTH: The great athletic abilities of Clyde Barringer, Pat Lentz, and other star seniors are left to Tucker McDaniel, Joe Price, and Jimmy Little.

SIXTH: Bronnie Foreman bequeaths her abilities for chasing boys and catching them to Betty Ann Duffell.

SEVENTH: The much talked of collection of jokes owned by the Sub-Deb Club is hereby left to the Hi-Y Club. It ran out of jokes this year on the third meeting.

NINTH: Donald "Master-mind" Farshing bequeaths his giant intellect to Randolph "Mole" Earnhardt, along with a copy of his latest encyclopedia, the "If-it's-known-at-all-I-know-it" Encyclopedia.

TENTH: Julian McKenzie and Helen Graham leave their unexcelled executive abilities to Bob Weant and Rosamond Putzel.

ELEVENTH: The genial personality of Jean Kirk and Bobby Dutton is left to Patsy Foutz and Tommy Hudson.

TWELFTH: "Tinker" McGinnis leaves his "make-you-want-to-mess-'em-up" curls to anyone who wants to spend three hours a day on them. "Tinker" also recommends the "Sampson" curling iron, Advance Stores, 98 cents, or Charles Store, 37 cents.

THIRTEENTH: Gordon Hastly, that demon clarinet player, leaves his complete technique to Odell Nassar. Gordon also says that if Odell comes around one night he will show him how to make reeds from old shingles the way he has done it for the past three years.

FOURTEENTH: Betty Mullis and Dean Hughes leave their dancing abilities to anyone who can "cut a rug" as they can.

FIFTEENTH: Bill Hill leaves his deluxe locker, complete with light, automatic burglar alarm, shocking machine, etc. to any student who will take over the custody of the four mice that live there.

SIXTEENTH: Those fashion-setters of Boyden, Virginia Marsh and Billy Leonard, leave the title of "Best Dressed" to anyone who can keep up the standard already set for them.

SEVENTEENTH: As there is no one qualified to be the recipient of Gertrude Walton's great journalistic talent, we hereby set it up as an example to think about and work toward as you are sitting in the drug store trying to think of something to put in your column.

EIGHTEENTH: Sarah Plexico, that best citizen and best speech-maker of the Senior Class, bequeaths her unsurpassed abilities to Betty Hope Willard.

NINETEENTH: The entire treasury of the Senior Class is left in a fund to buy water pistols for those students that are disarmed by non-belligerent teachers. This fund is in effect only if the treasurer, who has been missing for the past four months, is found.

TWENTIETH: The following advice is left to the underclassmen: FRESHMEN: Don't be discouraged by setbacks, but keep on striving and maybe some day you may reach your goal to be a senior. SOPHOMORES: Don't worry too much about your grades and you will find that this will help you to get better ones. You might be on the Honor Roll or in the National Honor Society yet. JUNIORS: Next year you will have the honor of being seniors, so follow the example set for you by the present Senior Class and you will perhaps share some of the glory that was ours.

HEREUPON, the aforesaid Class of 1942, Anno Domini, do on this day, June 4, affix our signatures and seal to this, our last will and testament, and so hereby appoint as our sole executor, Mr. David A. Bunch.

HOMER FRIDAY, Lawyer.

PROPHECY

June 1, 1952

Dear Diary,

Gee, I know it's hard to believe. I can hardly believe it myself. Guess where I'm going. You don't know? Well, I knew you wouldn't. I'm going on an "American Tour." You know. One of those "See America First" things. Dick is giving it to me for my fifth wedding anniversary present. I can hardly wait. I leave Savannah Monday, June 2. See you in Charleston.

June 2, 1952

Dear Diary,

Well, here I am in Charleston. Pauline Mowery is holding down a swell job as the Traveler's Aid Association secretary. I saw her in the railroad station. Jack Miller is flagman for one of the streamliners. He told me that Ivy McDaniel was the owner and manager of the town's best hotel, the "Robbun While They Nod", so I went there to rest. I developed a terrible toothache, so Alice Hurtman, the hotel hostess, recommended Dr. McGinnis. Wasn't I surprised to find the doctor was none other than my old classmate, "Tinker"? The surprises weren't over, however, for he had as his assistant, Alice Foil.

June 3, 1952

Dear Diary,

Fort Jackson at last. I saw so many familiar faces. Everette Loflin was marching around yelling instructions to the group of new enlistees. Charles Frazier, Brady Heilig, Harold Hamilton, Albert Saleeby, Bill Wallace, and Malcolm Hensley are also officers at Fort Jackson. Pat Lentz, the head doctor, had Araminta Epting as his nurse. Pat told me about the many home-folks at the fort. Mary Katherine Cline and Adelaide Kluttz are secretaries and Jean Leazer, typist. Later in the day I went shopping in Columbia and found an adorable dress at Betty Floyd's exclusive ready-to-wear shop. Betty Kincaid and Cecilia Hearn are her salesladies and Ruth Miller, bookkeeper.

June 4, 1952

Dear Diary,

All off for Wilmington. Fredricia Greene is the public school piano teacher here. I went swimming at Carolina Beach where Max Rice is the lifeguard. Later I went down to the night club where Peggy Loflin was singing with Don Farthing's jazz band. They've both gotten to the top of the ladder of fame in the world of music.

June 6, 1952

Dear Diary,

I read in the "Charlotte Times" that Homer Friday, attorney-at-law, has thrown his hat in the ring for a nomination as state senator. Mary Frances Steele and June Misenheimer are Attorney Friday's secretaries. By the way,

Billy Sigmon is editor of the "Times" and Ruth Blount is the society editor in addition to her work on feature stories. She's definitely on the upward path. The financial backer of the paper is the great J. P. Spencer. I suppose you have heard how successful he has been. Tino Kanekides, a first class accountant, has his hands full keeping account of J. P.'s billions. Tino's secretary is Thelma Stiller.

June 7, 1952

Dear Diary,

My, but it's good to be home again. Billy Scales was conductor on the train I came up here on. Gene Houck has become superintendent of the city schools, the first woman to hold this office in Salisbury. Betty Rogers and Joyce Kluttz are teachers. Billy Haden has taken over his father's tire re-capping business. I went by the grocery store to pick up some little things. Ralph Winecoff owns a long chain of grocery stores, but I didn't get to see him since his headquarters are in St. Louis. A. G. Leonard is manager of the local store.

June 10, 1952

Dear Diary,

Just one jump from Salisbury and here I am in Spencer. It's still a big railroad town. Charles Brady, Richard Camp, and L. C. Foster head the department of mechanics.

June 11, 1952

Dear Diary,

I saw so many Salisburyans here in Greensboro that it looked like home. Elinor Cole Davis and Mary Hanson are teaching at Woman's College; Elinor, teaching typing, and Mary, music. Gordon Hasty and Allen Spencer have opened the Curo Clinic. Mary Rainey is head of the surgical department. Clara Aldridge, Helen Graham, Betty Jane Mills, June Link and Betty Ruth Buie are nurses.

June 12, 1952

Dear Diary,

Winston-Salem is still growing. I went into Margaret Faye Fisher's dress shop and picked out an evening dress styled by "Marion" One of Marion Farmer's creations, of course.

June 13, 1952

Dear Diary,

I took the new Diesel train to Raleigh. Eddie Sheneman, of all people, was the engineer. He's made quite a record for himself. Incidentally, Robert Peeler is the conductor on the streamliner. I saw Mary Ruth Thompson today. She's teaching at Saint Mary's. Peggy Morefield has opened a super-modern dancing school and is doing a "dancing" business.

June 14, 1952

Dear Diary,

Durham must be an extremely nice place for secretaries. Ruth Miller and Joyce Barrow are office girls in the firm, "Davis, Hill, and Plyer-Contractors". I remember them as Calvin, Jennings, and John. Clara Benson, Ella Mae Bost, Janie Alsobrooks and Johnnie York are nurses at the Duke Hospital while Mary Butner is dietitian. And, oh, yes, Marian Rodgers is a laboratory technician.

June 17, 1952

Dear Diary,

Boy, of all the monkeys to find in the Asheville Zoo! Dean Hughes takes top honors. He works under the dignified title of "Zoologist". Maud Barger, as the veterinarian's assistant, takes care of all the little monkeys. I hear that Robert Dutton is Asheville's biggest (in reputation, I mean) lawyer. So prosperous is he, that he can employ three stenographers and one private secretary. Betty Mullis, Obern Rainey and Clara Ruth Jones are the stenographers and Dot Walls walks away with honors as the private secretary.

June 18, 1952

Dear Diary,

I decided in favor of a little vacation from a vacation and flew down to Pinehurst. Several of my old friends are down here as instructor nurses at the Pinehurst Hospital. Kathleen Caldwell, Louise Jackson, and Kathleen Scott are among them. I understand that Sybil Dorsett is the dietitian. It's such a lovely place I hated to leave but my trip has just begun.

June 19, 1952

Dear Diary,

Norfolk and sailors and more sailors! Uncle Sam has plenty of Salisburyans here: Frank Evans, Curtis Cauble, Robert Wingate, Craige Williams, James Kepley and Julian McKenzie to mention a few. Over at the shipyards, I saw Doris Still, Vivian Meng, and Virginia Vincent pecking away on their typewriters. Dot Martin, Rita Ernst, and Sara Barringer are secretaries. By the way, Sara Pinkston got that good-looking lawyer that she was hunting for. She's secretary in his law office in Argentina. The lawyer? None other than Duralde Worrell.

June 20, 1952

Dear Diary,

As I walked down Washington's Pennsylvania Avenue, I wondered if I weren't really at home. There are quite a few flying cadets stationed here. Ross Russell, Irving Shafer, Bili Baker, Blue Leonard, and Aaron Lippard are all old friends. The biggest surprise was yet to come. The Hunt brothers, rumor has it, have given all of their time to science, studying the recent origin of a certain species of little, dirty yellow rats. Hats off to them! Elizabeth Summersett has a grand job in the Civil Service office. Jean Jernigan has received loads of publicity lately. She's just been appointed the keeper of the Congressional Library. Wonderful, isn't it? I snooped around some of the offices down town and found Vera Lee Hartman, Mary Ruth Kepley, Betty Jane Kimbrought, and Vivian Reavis working as government secretaries. Mae Frances Kluttz, Margaret Jenkins, and Virginia Marsh operate one of the most famous art schools in the world. Harold McPheters heads the mechanical drawing department of the school.

June 21, 1952

Dear Diary,

Philadelphia's another wonderful city. Down at the General Hospital, I saw Dora Mae Baldwin, Pat Patterson, Margaret Roseman, Merrea Smith, and Irene Warford flitting around in stiff white uniforms, which contrasted sharply with the greasy overalls I found on the mechanics at the Municipal Airport. The busy "grease men" were Nelson Wilhelm, John Artz and G. C. Teeter. Last night I went out to see the tennis matches. Stella Stoessel won the women's international title while Robert Davis took the men's title yesterday. Just think. They're friends of mine.

June 22, 1952

Dear Diary,

The signs on Broadway look much like a directory of Salisbury. Sarah Plexico opens in her new play; Beverly Pugh and Hilda Bass are singing with Tommy Dorsey's band; Jean Kirk is starring in "Madame Butterfly". Gee Whiz! Anne McGirt's book shop is advertising Gertrude Walton's newest book, "Manners for Mervin Percy When He Gets Tired of Being a Henpecked Husband". Well, she'll make millions, on that. Oh, yes, Richard Ludwig's modeling agency has such names as Virginia Dedmon, Isabelle Carpenter, Frances Bradsher, and Betty Gwynn on its pay roll. Arthur Murray has retired, leaving June McDowell to dance on. Betty Anne Ragland and Katherine Stanley are on the staff of the "Times". Both have received coveted rewards for outstanding newspaper work. Buster Reynolds is teaching metal work at one of the city's high schools. Robert Brown, noted metallurgist, told me that he was working on a metal that would be suitable for automobile tires. Rubber went out of style during the Second World War, you remember. Elizabeth Clark has just finished a personal appearance tour of America. I heard her piano concert in Carnegie Hall. It was simply wonderful.

June 23, 1952

Dear Diary,

No chance of my getting homesick. Chicago is too full of familiar faces for that. Bonnie Mullis is singing in Thomas Menius' exclusive night club. Caught a plane here from New York. The pilot? Harlen Gudger, and I'd trust my life with him any day. The hostess was Mary Jarrell.

June 24, 1952

Dear Diary,

Alexandria, Minnesota. Frank Kirk certainly did pick a cold place to practice his tooth-pulling business. Ruth Kirk, still no kin, is his assistant. I saw Ruby McDaniels this morning. She's working for Paul Bernhardt, who is manufacturing photographers' equipment. It was such ideal weather I decided to do a little skiing. Ralph Shipton was an excellent teacher, but I was a poor student.

June 25, 1952

Dear Diary,

Jean Livengood played in St. Louis Town Hall tonight. Marvelous playing. I saw Francys Russell's name signed at the bottom of a super-deluxe advertisement today. Elizabeth Johnson, Kate Bauknight, Daisy Monroe and Juanita Fisher are secretaries in the law firm of "Nockum, Sockum and Gypum". A red cross always catches my eye. The one on Edith Lentz's uniform ran up and said "hello".

June 26, 1952

Dear Diary,

"Bone" Armstrong and Bernard Littleton are certainly getting ahead here in New Orleans. They've founded a nursing school. Ruth Tysinger and Bronnie Foreman are teaching and should be able to cope with any emergency. Rosalie Armstrong can plan my meals any day.

June 27, 1952

Dear Diary,

Houston, Texas isn't a bad place at all. I bought a novelty rolling pin yesterday from Walter Ennis. He's the owner of an up-and-coming chain of five and ten cent stores. Helen Waggoner's down here in the hospital. Oh, no, she's not sick. She's one of the best laboratory technicians in this part of the country. Sara Harrison and Florence Hill are secretaries here. It was so good to see them.

June 28, 1952

Dear Diary,

I dropped over to Randolph Field to see how things were going. I saw Jerre Bowles, Clyde Barringer and Reginald Forrest flying around in a taxi. Of course, I didn't know it was they, but Jack Peeler told me it was. Robert Lentz, Bill Honeycutt, Bill Kinder and Jack are mechanics at Randolph Field.

June 29, 1952

Dear Diary,

I saw Judy Daniel walking down Main Street in Phoenix, Arizona, today. She directed me to an office in the bank building where I found Ruth Klutz and Betty Dedmon employed as secretaries.

June 30, 1952

Dear Diary,

I didn't elcpe even though the city is Las Vegas. Because of all the elopements, they need quick, efficient persons like Ruby Poplin and Irma Fisher in the offices. Julia Nell Byerly as justice of the peace ties all the matrimonial knots.

July 1, 1952

Dear Diary,

I've just been seeing people tie knots and now I see them untying knots. Reno's the city. Grace Kimball, Opal Leonard, Marguerite Trexler and Ann Cauble are the old friends I saw here. I picked up the quaintest antique table so I took it by a cabinet shop to be repaired. Avery Gosney refinished it. I must remember to see if he carved any initials on it.

July 2, 1952

Dear Diary,

Hollywood! The town's real because I've seen it. The town wasn't the only thing I saw. Margaret Sue Randall, Amelia Parker and Norma Jean Whitley are in pictures. Very successful, too. Frances Eagle, Louise Graham, Ruby Torrence and Evelyn Stroud are studio secretaries. I went out to Billy Leonard's night club, "Panama Hat". All of the celebrities were there. Nancy Griffin is Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's head designer. She whipped up a darling evening dress for me. It's rumored around town (of course this isn't official) that Bill Hill has made quite a fortune as a ditch construction man at Beverly Hills. Ditch digger, to you.

July 3, 1952

Dear Diary,

Portland, Oregon has a number of Salisbury's children here. Walter Hoover has a fine apple orchard up here. I'm taking some apples back to the family. He's doing such a rushing business that it takes Azalee Powell, Rachel Lyerly, Frances Carter and Oneda Sloop working full time to keep the business affairs straight. Richard Carson has become one of the Navy's most reliable radio operators. La Vearn Cooke and Brent Woodson have gained fame in the world as scientists. Great has been their contribution to the modern world. They have discovered a new gas which, when inhaled, leaves one speechless. They have generously donated the first supply of this wonder-gas to Boyden High School where Miss Thompson is the chief endorser. She finds it especially useful in her study hall.

July 6, 1952

Dear Diary,

Well, it's home again for me. My trip was "swell". It was a kind of tenth-year reunion with all my high school friends. They're all so successful and well-known. But then, on graduation night in 1942, we all knew that bright things were ahead for us. There never was a better class than the Class of '42. Goodnight, Diary.
